SENIOR PROPHECY

Here it is, May 9th, 2002. Exactly 20 years since graduating from 'ole HCHS. My how the time has flown. I, Michaela Lawson, after finishing my first album, have decided to visit my classmates. I really don't know where to start looking because you know how our class is about keeping in touch. The first classmate I ran into was the one and only Scott Loomis. I gave him my first copy of my album, since it was dedicated to him, and asked him how he was doing. He said that he was a news reporter and worked for the NEW YORK TIMES. His latest article entitled "Four Youths Killed Hitting Brick Wall" was sure to be a front page story. I then asked him if he had seen anyone from the old Class of '82. He told me to check over at Lemon's Airport. There I found Bob Lemon out on the runway ready to take off. Luckily there was a delay and I was able to board. Bob flew us into Hayes Center where he had a huge set up. He offered to give me a ride in his helicopter and take a look at Hayes County, maybe we could find some more classmates around. We went north of town first. When we neared the TV tower we heard some strange noise, thinking it was some malfunction in the helicopter we landed, but the noise continued on. It seemed like it was coming from the top of the tower. We got a spotlight and aimed it toward the top. Sure enough, there sat Brad Curran just singing away at the top of his lungs. We finally coaxed him down and he told us he worked there now. The next day I was doing some more touring of Hayes County when this man with a gun came along and told me I was trespassing and to get off HIS land! He told me if I went thirty miles in either direction, then I'd be off it. It then dawned on me that this must be Dolan Smith. When he realized who I was he apologized and asked me in for tea. It seems his whole farm is computerized so all he has to do is push buttons. Dolan informed me that Calvin Calander worked for him. He gave me directions to get to Calvin's place and off I went. The first person I ran into was Loretta. She told me that she and Calvin got married three years out of high school. I told her I couldn't stay long because I still had a number of classmates to look up. I, then traveled to Lincoln, Nebraska where Dennis Clifford was residing. He had been raising beans until last year when he stumbled on a sure-fire way of getting rid of grasshoppers. He was now the owner and operator of Clifford Chemical Company. He was in a rush so I let him go on about his business. After resting for a day, I decided to look up Judy Hurst. I found her out in her garden pulling weeds. She moved to Lincoln five years earlier and was happily married to a deputy sheriff. As I was driving back to my hotel I noticed two people in a phone booth on the corner of Cupid and O. they seemed to be just infatuated as they were back in the halls of Ole HCHS. Sure enough it was Maury Cox and Debbie. I didn't talk to either of them because I didn't want to interrupt. From Lincoln I flew to Japan where I visited Miho Fujita. She said she was planning a return trip to Hayes Center next year. She took me on a tour of her hometown and then dropped me off at the airport. I had read in the paper that Rory Kerchal was in the hospital for the 100th time since graduation. I decided to go visit him. When I saw him, there he lay, up to his neck in plaster. He told me he couldn't remember how many pick-ups he had wrecked since high school but that his back yard, which consists of two miles of pasture, was full of the remains. I had just run out of film for my camera so I went into a nearby camera store. There behind the counter stood Mark Schmelzer. He told me that he was taking pictures for BERACUDA magazine and running this shop. I asked him if he would do the pictures for my next album cover and he said he'd be delighted to. I finally returned home exhausted from my trip and remembering what fun it has been and what great classmates I have.

A time of beginnings and a time of ends.
A time for laughter and a time for friends.
A time to say "Thanks" to the special people along the way.
Without them we wouldn't be here today.
A time to say "Good luck" to next years teams.
It has gone so fast or so it seems.
A time to tell my coaches how much
I appreciate them.
To hope that in the following years they will always win.
A time to say "I love you" to my family.
Without them I might as well not be.
A time for reminiscing, remembering the past.
Trying to hold on longer, trying to make it last.
A time for letting go of things that seem so dear.
A time for being brave and wiping away
the tears.
A time to say "Remember and I'll really miss you."
A time to say good-bye, to the Class of '82.

COACHES COMMENTS

"Hurry it up girls, it's almost 6:30 A.M. Yes, we'll start practice out the same way we've been doing it. Run twenty-two laps around the gym (that's one mile in case you've forgotten), do five-hundred jumps with the jump rope, make 20 baskets on each side of the goal and in the middle, get a partner and make 20 jump shots going full court. When these get done we will need to work on 1-3-1 offense and we'll spend half of an hour on our full-court press. And, yes, don't worry we'll finish off with sprints."

No, the above is not just a scenario. Twelve Hayes Center girls can testify that that's the way it was on many early mornings during 1981-82 basketball practices.

The girls were really dedicated getting to practices even when the win-loss record was 1-6. They kept telling themselves that they were a better team than the record indicated and they knew that they were improving. Most of the games lost were close games that could have gone either way. They kept saying after each loss "next time." Well, that next time did come at the district tourney agains- Palisade and a scrappy five from Venango. After those two wins the girls were in the district finals (Hayes Center hadn't been in the finals for twelve years!). The hard work and dedication of the girls paid off. There is a saying: "No pain, no gain." There was pain with early morning workout, drills, and practices, but with that pain came much gain.

The girls worked very hard this year and improved throughout the season. They broke school records in the shot put (4 kilo), High Jump, Long Jump, 400, 800, 1600, & 3200 meter runs and in the 3200 meter Relay. They made a fine start in regaining the prestige Hayes Center once had in track and I hope they continue. A fine job girls. Coach Adams.
